

People picks

book of the week

"A MAGNIFICENT PAGE-TURNER."
 —Cynthia D'Apris Sweeney, author of The Nest

Miranda Cowley Heller
The Paper Palace
 NOVEL

Ensnared in her family's rustic compound on Cape Cod for an annual summer trip, Elle Bishop is at a crossroads, forced to choose between the two great loves of her life. Should she run off with the longtime bestie she's secretly been in love with since they endured a ghastly childhood trauma together? Or stay with her cherished husband, a dashing Brit who's the father of her kids? A soulful debut that plumbs the depths of a midlife Sophie's Choice.

New in Paperback

Lynn Steger Strong
Want

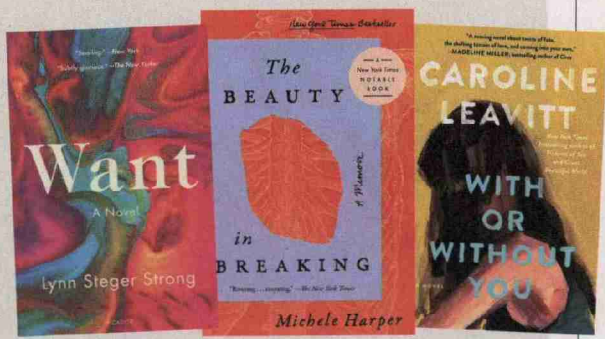

Juggling motherhood, marriage and financial woes, a Brooklyn academic seeks solace from a once-close friend—with life-altering results.

Michele Harper
The Beauty in Breaking

Harper's memoir about being a Black female physician in the mostly white male world of emergency medicine is raw and illuminating.

Caroline Leavitt
With or Without You

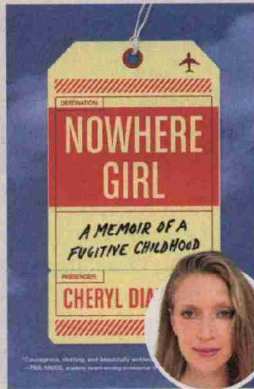

When Stella wakes up from a two-month coma, the man she's loved and her own dreams both look different. A wise, involving novel about self-realization and second chances.

The Best New Books

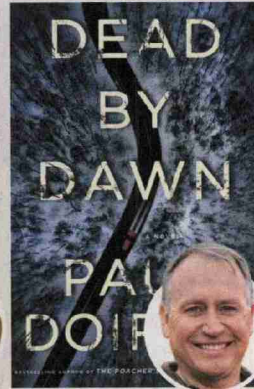

Torn between two lovers, surviving an unsettled childhood, and a fight for life in the wilds of Maine

Edited by KIM HUBBARD

Cheryl Diamond
Nowhere Girl
 MEMOIR

The daughter of a cruel father who was on the lam from Interpol, Diamond had hopped across 12 countries by the time she was 9. Somehow she found her own way, becoming a super-successful young model despite that harrowing start. A riveting tale of trauma and resilience.

Paul Doiron
Dead by Dawn
 THRILLER

Game warden Mike Bowditch plunges into a frozen river when his jeep is sabotaged—and that's just the first nail-biter in a nightlong fight for survival in the Maine wilderness. Doiron splices in the investigation that led to the ambush, proving his mastery of pacing and suspense. Frostbite aside, this book sizzles.

HETTS; CLOCKWISE FROM TOP RIGHT: MARK FELDING; STEPIA DANAY; PHOTOGRAPHY 2020 EVAN FIRESTONE

